Qualifications:

As your representative I will fight for families. I bring to the battle a lifetime of experience in politics, public service, and the private sector.

Politics has been a big part of my life since I first knocked on doors with my family in 1966. For decades I've spent time in committee rooms, in the gallery, in the lobby, and on the floor of the House and Senate learning the process and tracking and influencing legislation.

I spent six years with the Reagan Administration working in Washington. We worked to improve our nation's schools and manage our government better. I've done extensive non-profit volunteer work, and I serve on Utah's Architect Licensing Board.

Today I'm an architect, business owner, and Chief Financial Officer for our 50-person design firm. As an architect, I forge creative solutions to complex challenges. As a business owner, I deal with government mandates. As a CFO, I steer our firm through this tough economy. I know firsthand what it takes to meet a payroll.

In business, we work to maintain quality service even when we must cut costs to match revenues. Dealing successfully with such challenges is a critical skillset I will bring to state government.
